There is an old saying, “if you fail to plan you plan to fail”. For infants, children and young people transitioning between care environments is fraught with dangers. A successful transition can ensure the longevity of a placement. Determining the elements and length of a transition requires an understanding of the impact of broken attachments, and how new attachments are formed.

Seminar Objectives:

- To develop protocols for an effective transition plan based on the needs of the infant, child or young person
- To explore how emotional attachments are formed
- To enhance your understand of what an infant, child or young person will do in order to create distance from an adult who is attempting to ‘join together’ with them
- To investigate all aspects of a healing environment through the Practice RHYTHM™ method
- To be able to create a Therapeutic Treatment Plan (TTP) to meet the developmental needs of the infant, child or young person
- To develop greater confidence in planning effective transitions

Suitable Audience:

- Carers & workers from foster, residential, permanent, adoptive and kinship care
- Family service workers
- Child protection workers
- Teachers / teacher’s aide
- Student welfare / wellbeing professionals
