Presented by Gregory Nicolau
Monday, 6 May 2013

Join us to explore the foundations of creating a healthy & thriving school community where staff and students work together in a safe and inclusive learning environment. Our SMARTER Schools Program will provide a pathway to help you achieve this and more.

It's conclusive – childhood trauma caused by sexual, physical, emotional abuse or neglect 'changes the brain' in ways that impact a child and young person's ability to form strong relationships and regulate their emotions and behaviour.

Seminar Objectives:

- To understand the impact of childhood trauma on ones psychological, physiological and spiritual being, and its influence on student learning
- To develop the ability to read the 'vital signs' of students who are struggling in the school environment and develop effective intervention strategies
- To reflect on the importance of healthy attachments and relationship building with challenging students
- To embrace a consistent response to managing challenging students within the school community
- To adopt a 'self care' approach when in the presence of a student who is unable to regulate their emotions and behaviour
- To understand the benefits that this approach will have for the whole school community

Suitable Audience:

- Principals
- Teachers
- Education support staff
- School well-being professionals
