Most people tend to avoid conflict because of the pain and frustrations associated with it. In this course, you'll explore conflict as a kind of new best friend when you discover that it's the only path to growth and greatness. When conflicts are allowed to grow, fester, and expand within professionals and teams it blocks our ability to work in the present. In this engaging and active workshop, participants will learn that the only way to resolve conflicts is to learn and practice the art of raising it.

Seminar Objectives:

- Define conflict in effective and neutral terms
- Conceptualise and use conflict in philosophical and literary terms
- Identify personal inhibitors to experiencing conflict
- Practice break through strategies for experiencing conflict
- Use simple and direct language and communication for raising and resolving conflict
- Use and practice the role of mediator in partnered or group conflict

Suitable Audience:

- Managers / team leaders
- Carers & workers from foster, permanent, residential, adoptive & kinship care
- Family service workers
- Child protection workers
- Youth Justice
- Teachers / teacher's aide
- Student welfare / wellbeing professionals
- Administration workers
