There is an old saying, "if you fail to plan you plan to fail". For infants, children and young people transitioning between care environments is fraught with dangers. A successful transition can ensure the longevity of a placement. Determining the elements and length of a transition requires an understanding of the impact of broken attachments, and how new attachments are formed.

Skill Bite Objectives:

- To develop protocols for an effective transition plan based on the needs of the infant, child or young person
- To explore how emotional attachments are formed
- To enhance your understand of what an infant, child or young person will do in order to create distance from an adult who is attempting to 'join together' with them
- To investigate all aspects of a healing environment through the Practice RHYTHM™ method
- To be able to create a Therapeutic Treatment Plan (TTP) to meet the developmental needs of the infant, child or young person
- To develop greater confidence in planning effective transitions
- To develop a transition plan for an infant, child or young person

Suitable Audience:

- Carers & workers from foster, residential, permanent, adoptive and kinship care
- Child Protection
- Teachers / teacher's aide

Gregory Nicolau is the company Director and Consultant Psychologist of Australian Childhood Trauma Group. He has a 30 year career working with the most marginalised and vulnerable children, young people and families in our community and the agencies, organisations and education facilities who support them. He has an exceptional reputation dealing with complex cases and situations in a compassionate and focused manner. He's transparent in dealing with staff and organisations and able to challenge when appropriate. He enjoys supporting people to deliver the best outcomes for infants, children and young people and is an experienced trainer, facilitator and case supervisor. Gregory is also founder and chair of Random Acts of Kindness.
